

Susan Lane, MD, FACP is the Program Director for the Internal Medicine Residency Program and the Vice Chair for Education in the Department of Medicine at Stony Brook Medicine in Stony Brook, NY. Dr. Lane is active in healthcare policy and currently serves as Chair of the Alliance for Academic Internal Medicine Health Policy Committee and is a member of the NY ACP Health and Public Policy Committee. Dr. Lane teaches and practices general internal medicine in Setauket, NY.

Steven Cole, MD, MA (Sociology) is Professor of Psychiatry, Emeritus at Stony Brook University School of Medicine and a member of MINT (Motivational Interviewing Network of Trainers)
(www.motivationalinterviewing.org)

Trained at Harvard, Duke University, and the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Dr. Cole is Board Certified in Adult Psychiatry with Added Qualifications in Geriatric Psychiatry and Psychosomatic Medicine. He has received grants and contracts from the Jonathan D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation, the National Institute of Mental Health (NIMH), the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, and many others. Dr. Cole has achieved wide recognition as an expert on medical communication. He published a premier textbook on the medical interview in 1990, entitled, The Medical Interview: The Three Function Approach. The second edition of the text, published in 2000, sold 20,000 copies, has been assigned in 22 US medical schools and has been translated into Japanese. The third edition came out in 2014. Dr. Cole, with colleagues, developed Brief Action Planning (BAP), a self-management support tool and technique for health, wellness, and chronic illness care based on the principles and practice of Motivational Interviewing (MI). He has published more than 50 peer-reviewed journal articles, 35 book chapters, and 130 scholarly posters and presentations nationally and internationally.