Hospitalist Physicians

ACP works for hospitalists, providing education, clinical support, professional development, and vigorous advocacy for issues that will make a difference in your daily work and your patients' health.

- Top-tier clinical resources—These include a subscription to Annals of Internal Medicine; the clinical decision-support tool DynaMed®; evidence-based clinical guidelines and recommendations; and rapid-response education and resources to address current issues, such as the pandemic. Our COVID-19 resource hub provides real-time clinical and practice information, Annals articles, webinars, and more.
- High-quality CME and MOC resources, including hospitalist-specific options—Access hundreds of learning opportunities in a variety of formats. Most activities are free to members; the rest are deeply discounted, such as MKSAP® and the annual Internal Medicine Meeting (both of which include hospitalist tracks).
- Point-of-care-ultrasound (POCUS) training—Learn new skills or refresh your training with our online training modules, courses, and podcasts. Plus, earn free CME and MOC.
- Leadership development—The ACP Leadership Academy prepares you for leadership roles in your organization and the greater health care environment. Access informal webinars and formal training to increase your leadership education and enhance your CV. A Certificate in Physician Leadership for Hospital Medicine is available.
- Patient and professional advocacy—ACP advocates for policies that improve patients' health care and well-being and persistently pushes for better reimbursement for internists and the elimination of unnecessary administrative tasks that hinder your practice of medicine.

As internal medicine evolves and new technologies and treatments develop, ACP will continue to create resources that help you stay current throughout your career and lifelong learning journey.
